PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Sharing Knowledge and Building Humanitarian Networks

HPCR International's Professional Development Program and its Advanced Professional Trainings on Humanitarian Law and Policy are offered in cooperation with Professionals in Humanitarian Assistance and Protection (PHAP) and the Program on Humanitarian Policy and Conflict Research at Harvard University. They benefit from the latest research of the Harvard-based Distance Learning Initiative, as well as from the support of regional partners such as the Jordan Institute of Diplomacy.

The Advanced Professional Trainings on Humanitarian Law and Policy aim to explore the legal and policy challenges of contemporary armed conflicts through lectures, group discussions, case studies and simulation exercises. By examining International Humanitarian Law and other branches of International Law, these events provide practitioners with a unique opportunity to participate in discussion and critical engagement on key principles of humanitarian law and policy while facilitating knowledge acquisition, skill development and networking opportunities. The trainings are tailored to meet the needs of practitioners and policymakers, including United Nations staff, diplomats, government officials, and professionals from non-governmental organizations. Others with substantial interest and relevant experience, including journalists, members of the military and scholars, are also invited to apply.
