

IDENTIFYING AND REGULATING NEW TYPES OF CONFLICT AND ACTORS

Third Annual Conference Hague Academic Coalition
Parallel Session
T.M.C. Asser Instituut – 7 April 2006

9.00 – 9.10 Welcome

Session one: Identifying new Types of Conflicts and Actors

9.10 – 9.40 Unequal combat 1: New actors and their threat to international peace and security
Charles Garraway, former Stockton Professor of International Law at the United States Naval War College, former Legal Adviser UK Army Legal Services

9.40 – 10.10 Unequal combat 2: New methods and means of warfare and their threat to international peace and security
Michael N. Schmitt, George Marshall Centre

10.10 – 10.40 Non-international transnational armed conflict
Mahmoud Mohamedou, Harvard University

10.40 – 11.00 Coffee

Session two: Regulating New Types of Conflict and Actors through Humanitarian Law

11.00 – 11.30 The adequacy of international humanitarian law in the face of new actors and methods and means of warfare
Bill Lietzau, Staff Judge Advocate for U.S. European Command

11.30 – 12.00 Potential for reform of the law and its implementation in confronting new security threats
Noelle Quénivet, Institute for Law of Peace and Armed Conflict, Bochum

12.00 – 13.00 Discussion

13.00 – 14.00 Lunch

Session three: Regulating New Types of Conflict and Actors through Criminal Law

14.00 – 14.30 The grey area between war and criminal law enforcement

Speaker to be confirmed

- 14.30 – 15.00 Using international criminal law to tackle asymmetrical threats to international peace and security
Bill Ferrick, former Senior Legal Advisor, ICTY Office of the Prosecutor
- 15.00 – 15.30 Discussion
- 15.30 – 16.00 Return to World Forum Convention Center